The Company has been able to secure the services of Mr. S. R. Sinha as a technician. This gentleman completed his education at the Imperial University, Tokyo (Japan) and received a special training in glass making in the Higher Technical School, Tokyo, and a practical training in two well-known glass factories in Japan for three years and a half. Mr. J. G. Cumming, I.C.S., who was placed by the Bengal Government on special duty in connection with the "Industrial Enquiries," writes thus about Mr. S. R. Sinha in his Review of the Industrial Position and Prospects in Bengal in 1908. "Mr. Salig Ram Sinha of Gaighat, Benares City, who has studied glassware in Tokyo, Japan, is trying to float a company to start a glass manufactory near Barakar to prepare block-glass for bangle making and to prepare bottles and phials. This Barakar was the site which Mr. Wagie had proposed when considering the opening of a glass factory in Bengal. In the first place the neighbourhood of Barakar which Mr. S. R. Sinha has selected is probably as good as could be selected in Bengal. The climate is not as trying as in the neighbourhood of Calcutta and Sini Quartz, Damodar Sand and coal are obtainable and in the second place Mr. S. R. Sinha has had an expert's training and his services should be utilized by his countrymen."

The factory will be situated in the vicinity of Barakar which is most suitable for obtaining raw materials, etc.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The second edition of the "Directory of Indian Goods and Industries" having been sold out, and there being a continuing demand for copies, this new edition is issued. The Directory has this year been further revised and enlarged. An attempt to show makers and sellers of articles separately has failed as those concerned did not choose to respond to the invitation to supply the needed information.

AMRAOTI, }
5th December 1908. }

R. N. MUDHOLKAR,
General Secretary,
Indian Industrial Conference

PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

A "Directory of Indian Goods," containing information of articles made in India, where they are made and where available, has been a desideratum long felt. And the great and growing demand for indigenous articles which is the result of what is popularly known as the Swadeshi movement has made it an almost urgent need. The present compilation has been undertaken to meet this want. It does not pretend to any completeness, and no one is more conscious of its imperfections than the undersigned. But within the time at the disposal of the Office of the Industrial Conference, where it is prepared, and in the circumstances under which the work had to be done, it has not been possible to make the Directory an exhaustive publication of its kind or to aim at a higher standard of excellence; while it has been felt that it would be more useful to make available to the public in a collected form such information as was at our disposal than to postpone publication till such time as we could make the Directory complete and exhaustive. It is intended, however, to make the Directory an annual publication, and I will feel grateful to those who will bring to my notice any errors in this issue which may be traced by them, but which may have escaped the attention of the compilers, for correction in next year's issue of the Directory. I will feel greatly obliged, too, to all who will supply any information, which they are in a position to give but which has not found a place in the Directory, for incorporation in it next year.

The Office of the Industrial Conference is indebted to various sources for the information supplied in the Directory. The printed catalogues of the Bombay and Madras Exhibitions and the unpublished Catalogue of that of Benares as well as the Catalogues of the smaller but none the less useful and interesting Exhibitions held this year at Amraoti and at Broach have been freely drawn upon; besides information specially supplied at my request by the owners and managers of several mills, factories and establishments. Nor have the newspapers been left unutilised for the purpose. But special acknowledgment is due to Mr. M. B. Sant, of Sangamner now at Aden, who kindly made over to the Conference Office the mass of useful information he had put together in many months of patient, and silent, toil which has been to him a labour of love. Much of the information collected by him had, before the receipt of his manuscript, been gathered and assorted in the Conference Office. All the same my thanks are due to him not only for his public spirit and his courtesy, but also for some very useful information which was first derived from his materials.

The Second Part of the Directory is compiled mostly from the Industrial Monographs prepared by Government Officers and kindly supplied to the Conference Office.

AMRAOTI,

21st November 1906.

R. N. MUDHOLKAR,
General Secretary,
Indian Industrial Conference.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

The demand for the first edition of the "Directory of Indian Goods" was considerable on the part of the public as well as most of the purchasing departments of the Government, and it has been entirely sold out. The demand continues, and it is believed that the second edition which is now issued will meet a distinct public want. The Directory has been revised and enlarged as far as practicable and while it is by no means exhaustive, it can be claimed for it that no efforts have been spared to incorporate in this edition fuller and more accurate information about Indian goods than was possible in the first. Some new features have also been added and they will be found in the second part which gives a list of Indian Industries (including Banks, Insurance Companies and Machinery Importers), and the indexes of addresses and places. These considerably facilitate reference and enhance the usefulness of the compilation to that extent. On account of the addition of the second part, it was deemed desirable to make a slight change in the name of the Directory. In the public demand for the compilation continues, a new edition will be brought out year after year in order to keep it up to date and to make all those improvements which experience may suggest or the wants of the country may require. It may be added that useful suggestions from any quarter will be cordially welcomed and that they will receive the best attention.

AMRAOTI,                    }

* "Bhānūtāp named Heliotherm in English, is an invention for focussing solar heat to be used as a substitute for fire and as a means of saving fuel while bright sunshine is available. It consists of a Mirrored surface changing its position with the movement of the sun by means of clockwork. It is useful to confectioners, bakers, especially such as use steam for baking, manufacturing chemists and druggists, type founders and others who have to use fuel in large quantities.

If made in a sufficiently large scale, the apparatus is capable of working small engines for industrial and irrigating purposes.

i Food cooked with solar heat is very palatable and wholesome."

Section B.

[Note.—The information collected in the foregoing pages is in regard to articles which are manufactured or prepared on a more or less large scale by factories or establishments conducted on some magnitude or by persons whose names have been furnished to this office or otherwise come to their knowledge. But it has to be observed that in addition to this there are many, if not most, articles and goods of the same kind produced elsewhere in different parts of the country. Thus, for example, lace-bordered cloth of silk or cotton, simple silk cloth, silk-bordered cotton cloth suitable for male or female attire, is prepared or sold in numerous places like Poona, Ahmedabad, Surat, Baroda, Nagpur, Mhow, Maheshwar, Coimbatore, Salem, Ludhiana, Amritsar, Mursheda- bad, Dacca, Benares, etc., by manufacturers and merchants who might be counted by lakhs. Owing to the largeness of number and the difficulty of getting names, it was perceived almost immediately after the work of compila- tion of the Directory was taken in hand, that it would be impracticable to give detailed information about goods and articles produced or supplied by such persons. An attempt is, however, made herein below to give an indication of the nature of the articles and the places where they are produced or can gene- rally be had. This information cannot, it is admitted, be as efficacious as that which has gone before, but it is believed that it will serve a useful purpose all the same.—R.N.M.]

SPEECHES OF THE HON. MR. G. K. GOKHALE.

This is the first collection of his speeches and may claim to be fairly exhaustive, no important pronouncement of his having been omitted. The book contains four parts and an appendix. The first part includes all his utterances in the Supreme Legislative Council and in the Bombay Legislative Council ; the second, all his Congress speeches, including his presidential address at Benares ; the third, speeches in appreciation of Hume, Naoroji, Ranade Mehta and Bonnerjee ; the fourth, miscellaneous speeches delivered in England and India. The appendix contains the full text of his evidence both in chief and in cross-examination before the Welby Commission and various papers. These cover nearly a quarter of a century of a most strenuous, self-less and active public life and embrace the whole range of topics that have engaged and are still engaging the attention of the public. Full of instruction on every point and breathing in every line the moral fervour which is Mr. Gokhale's supreme characteristic, this volume, the publishers venture to hope, will command wide popularity.

Rs. 3. To subscribers of the "Review" Rs. 2-8.
