Thy charm-ed strains can ba-nish woe, and bid the breast, with rap-ture glow. raise my hope and lull my pain,
RO-SA sighs and sighs in vain.

In the bower adown the dale,
HENRY told his artless tale;
ROSA fondly heard the youth,
Grace his form, his heart was truth,
But hope is blighted, love is cross'd,
HENRY is to ROSA lost;
Love no more her heart shall gain,
ROSA sighs and sighs in vain.
