

1

The Woe-tun'd voice of hopeless Love.

A CANZONE.

Written by Mr Rannie,

The Music Composed by Mr Ross.

CF ABERDEEN.

Ent. at Sta Hall.

London, Printed & Sold by R Birrell, 133, New Bond Street.

Grazioso

Sym:

2:4

1

The woe-tun'd voice of hope-less love, In plain-tive sounds essays in vain, To tell what pangs the heart must prove, When burden'd with des-pair and pain. Yet still when twilight veils the plain, And ten-der music fills the grove; It sooths the Mourn-ers soul to strain, The woe-tun'd voice of hope-less Love, It sooths the mourners soul to strain, The woe-tun'd voice of hope-less Love :

Sym: rf rf

f p f p s.

2.

The woe-tun'd voice of hopeless Love,
 In deeper numbers seems to flow,
 When loud the mournful breezes move,
 Along the plaintive Lyre of Woe.
 For still accordant sad and slow,
 The Meek-but melancholy Dove,
 Strains, wailing from the sorrowing bough,
 The woe-tun'd Voice of hopeless Love.