

LURKING LOVE,
A CANZONETT,
Composed by
L. Linley

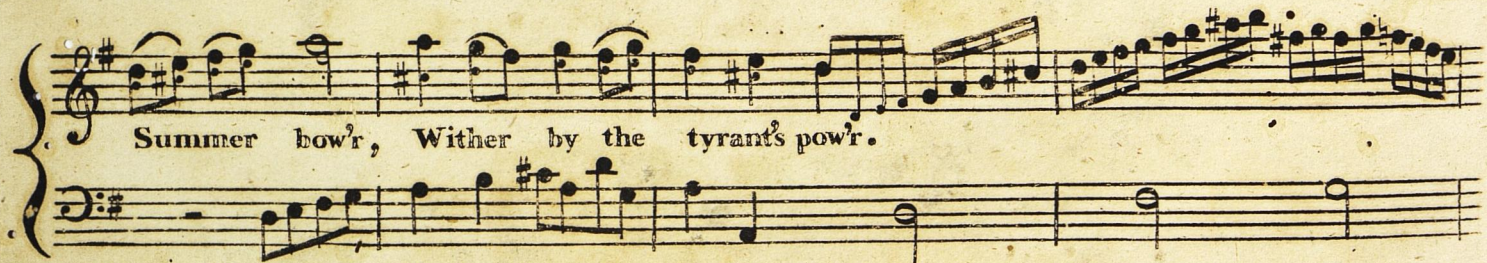

Price 6^d

Printed for J Carr Middle Row Holborn

Where may be had by the same Author "My Love is the pride of the Plain" Sung by Mrs Harlowe.

Just Published THE ELEMENTS OF TUNING with a New and improved Scale whereby an Instrument may be tun'd with more certainty & expedition than by any other method: with a Short Treatise. Pr: 1.6^d

Yet the Springs return doth prove 'Tis not hate but Lurking Love 'Tis not hate but

Lurking Love but Lurking Lurking Lurking Love 'Tis not hate but Lurking

Love.

2

Friendship with its open hand,
 Pity's sympathetic band
 Little tiffs and transient spleen
 All bespeak the Godhead's mien;
 All the turns of joy and grief
 Sport, and pleasure's sweet relief
 Like the Seasons as they move
 Prove at last but Lurking Love.