FRESH COMPLAINT

O F

The Dutch East India Company ;

A G A I N S T

The English East India Company.

High and Mighty Lords,

THE Directors of the East India Company, of this Country, had the Honour on the 5th of March, of this current Year 1761, to exhibit to your High Mightinesses, their most precise and final Representation concerning the Memorial of the Honourable Mr Yorke, Minister Plenipotentiary from his Britannic Majesty, some Time before presented to your High Mightinesses, and containing Complaints of very extraordinary Acts of Hostility, committed by the Servants of the East India Company of this Country, upon the Subjects of his Britannic Majesty in Bengal.

I N that Representation, the Directors hope they have not only shewn, that the Complaints, contained in the said Memorial, were groundless; but at the same time proved, that the Servants of the Dutch East India Company were not the Aggressors, in beginning Acts of Hostility against the Subjects of his Britannic Majesty; but that, on the contrary, the Servants of the English East India

Com-

Company had in a hostile Manner attacked, and outrageously treated the Subjects of your High Mightinesses.

IT was further shewn in that Representation, that the Company of this Country, and their Servants, were in various Respects highly injured and wronged by the Servants of the English Company.

THE aforesaid Directors then took the Liberty of Jaying before your High Mightinesses, with the utmost Respect, the Consequences to be apprehended from the violent Conduct of the English Company's Servants in Bengal; as on the Precautions to be taken against it, depended entirely either the Preservation or total Ruin of several important Settlements belonging to the Dutch Company, and of their Commerce, in many Parts of India. And moreover, the Directors, founded on that Proof, and on the further Consequences to be apprehended from the Conduct of the English Company's Servants, to the Detriment of the Dutch Company, did, in their aforesaid Representation, with all Humility, yet in as strong a Manner as the Importance of the Matter required, implore your High Mightinesses' particular Protection and effectual Assistance, in order to cause past Injuries to be redressed according to Right and Equity, and to secure the Company's Settlements in Bengal and elsewhere, from farther and total Ruin.

YOUR High Mightinesses were pleased, in your Resolution of the aforesaid 5th of March, to commit that Representation, and in that of the 7th of April following, to send a Copy of the same to M. Hop, your High Mightinesses' Envoy Extraordinary at the Court of Great Britain, and at the same time to write to him, to exhibit the said Representation, when, and in what Manner he should judge most for the Service of the East India Company, and also to second, in all proper Ways, the Requests contained in the said Representation.

THE said Envoy, M. Hop, hath executed this Resolution and Order of your High Mightinesses. But the aforesaid Representation having been, after some some time, returned to his Excellency, it was afterwards translated into French, and again put into the Hands of the Ministers of His Britannic Majesty, without any Answer being, so far as the Directors know, hitherto made thereto.

THINGS continued thus, at Home, in the same State ; but in India, they proceeded, meanwhile, from bad to worfe : For, in Bengal, the Company was obliged to pay, once and again, very considerable Sums of Money to the Moors, who, depending on the Aid and Assistance of their Friends and Allies, the Servants of the English East India Company, and apprized of our Inability to maintain our Rights and Privileges, and to secure the Company's Settlements, rapaciously availed themselves of these Circumstances, in order, as well from their own natural Temper, as at the Instigation of others, to extort, from Time to Time, large Sums of Money, from the Dutch Company.

THE Director and Council at Hugbly had flattered themselves, that after the Convention, which they were constrained to enter into, on the 3d of December 1759, with the Servants of the English Company, and on the 5th Ditto, with the then Nabob, the Dutch Company should have enjoyed in full Quiet, their Settlements in Bengal, and been able to carry on their Commerce undisturbed, without being exposed to new Extortions, or violent Exactions. But it soon appeared, That the two extorted Conventions were not yet sufficient to answer the desired Intention. For these Reasons therefore it was resolved still more to crush the Dutch Company, and deprive them entirely of their yet remaining, though feeble, Means of Security. For that Purpose, Kasim Cham, one of the Nabob's Commanders, appeared as early as the 11th of February after, with a great Army, before the Company's Fort Gustavus ; invested it, and cut off all Provisions from the Company's Servants. The Pretext for these Acts of Violence was, That the Nabob had discovered by an intercepted Letter, said to be furnished him by the English, that the Company's Servants had tendered and promised their Assistance to the Mogul Prince, who was in full March against the said Nabob. Kasim Cham afterwards gave Orders, that all the Outworks of the Fort should be razed, threatening, if they were not, to order his own Men to do it ; and at the same Time demanded, by Way of

Penalty

Penalty or Fine, and to indemnify him for the Trouble he had been at, a considerable Sum of Money.

THE Pretext was a mere Fiction, void of all Appearance of Truth. The Company's Servants therefore shewed Kasim Chaw the Falshood of the Charge, and made him sensible of the Injustice of his Demand: But all to no Purpose. They were obliged to raze the Out-works of the Fort, and to buy off further Acts of Violence by paying him 50,000 Florins.

BUT this was only a Fore-runner of what the Company had farther to apprehend: For in the Month of April thereafter, the Company's Servants were accused of levying men by the Nabob, who sent for the Head Man, or Chief, at Cassembazar; but he being unable thro' Indisposition to go to Court, de Wilde, the second, repaired thither. The Nabob, on admitting him into his Presence, repeated the above-mentioned Accusation, adding that the Company's Servants held a Correspondence and conspired with his Enemies; and on this Account demanded of the Company, by way of Contribution, an immense Sum of fifty Laks of Rupees*, or two and twenty Tons and a half of Gold, threatening, if this Sum was not immediately paid, to level with the Ground the Company's Settlements. The one as well as the other Accusation was false, and only devised to supply the Nabob's Want of Money at the Expence of the Company. De Wilde therefore did not neglect shewing the Falshood of these Charges: He proved that the few Seapoys, who were in the Company's Service, were taken into pay, in order to secure the Company's Effects against the threatened Inroads of the Marattas; and that, had it not been for this unexpected Investment of the Company's Factory, the Natives in their Pay would have been ere then discharged, and the rest sent back to Hugbly. He, moreover, employed every Argument possible, to convince the Nabob of the Injustice of his Conduct, and to divert him from his unreasonable Demand: But he was scarce favoured with a Hearing, and was himself put under Arrest. The Nabob thereupon caused the Company's Factory at Cassembazar to be invested by his Troops; planted eleven Pieces of Cannon before it:

* Between 50,000 l. and 600,000 l.

Every

Every imaginable Preparation was made for executing the threatened Destruction of the Company's Factory; and the actual Execution thereof could not be warded off, but with the Payment of full seven and a half Tons of Gold*, and under the Promise of discharging the above-mentioned Seapoys, and sending back the other Troops to Hugbly. On this Foot the Agreement was concluded, and the Nabob promised to retire with his Troops. The Company's Servants satisfied to the full the Contract on their Part, but the Nabob did not perform his Engagements. The Factory remained still invested by his troops; and when the Company's Servants insisted on their withdrawing, this high Sentence was at length pronounced, That it was not in the Prince's Breast, but in that of the English. The English then were questioned, about the Reason of such a Conduct, as nothing had happened between them and the Dutch, which could give any Rise or Handle thereto. The Answer was, That they were informed the Company's Servants held a Correspondence with their Enemies: That their Design was to make head against them and the Prince; and that therefore it was natural, that they, the English, should prevent them therein. The Company's Servants being conscious of the Falshood of this Accusation, endeavoured also to convince the English thereof, and to assure them, that the Director and Council at Hugbly had not the least Intention either to undertake or execute any Hostilities against them: But all to no Purpose; the English continued inflexible, and the withdrawing the Moorish Troops could not be brought about, but under the Promise, that Commissioners should be sent to Calcutta, in order to terminate the standing Differences with the English.

DURING these Transactions with the Moors, the Director Bisdon received a Letter from the then pro tempore President at Calcutta, Jonathan Zephaniel Holwell, dated the 15th of May, 1760; in which, under the Semblance of Friendship, he advised the Company's Servants, to satisfy in full the Nabob's Demands, and submit to whatever he should in future require of them, as they were not in a Condition to oppose the Nabob: Adding, moreover, that it was unnecessary to point out to him, the Director, the disagreeable Part, that they, the English, would be obliged thro' Necessity to take in our Differences with the Moors, and bow ardently they wished rather to act the Part of Mediators between us and the Suba. He added thereto some Propositions for an Accommodation, dressed up in the same Taste, which as well as the rest of the Letter, were answered in a proper Manner.

THE Company's servants at Cassembazar could not, as was above said, procure the withdrawing the Moorish Troops, but under the Promise of sending Commissioners to Calcutta. Two Commissioners therefore were sent thither on the 29th of May; who, after the Space of some Months, were constrained, as it were, under the Guaranty of the President and Council at Fort William, to enter into a more precise Convention with the Nabob, dated the 23d of August, 1760: Of which, among other hard Conditions, that were violently forced upon them, the sixth Article contains, That the Director and Council of the Dutch Company shall, now and at all Times, whenever the Nabob may require it, permit one of his Officers, accompanied by one of the English, to muster or visit their Troops and military Stores at Chintfura and their other Factories: Or if any other Means can be agreed on between the Governor and Council of Fort William, and the Director and Council of Chintfura, whereby the Governor and Council of Fort William may, to their Satisfaction, be assured of the Number of their Troops, and the Quantity of their military Stores; and be, as Umpires, empowered to give a satisfactory Answer to the Nabob, as to the Security of his Country; that then, and in that Case, the Nabob would no farther insist on a Muster.

THE whole of the Convention is hereto annexed; and the said sixth Article only adduced, as from thence it appears what may be expected from the Mediation and Guaranty of the Governor and Council of Fort William.

YOUR High Mightinesses however, from the above-mentioned two Cases, may see to what Extortions and Exactions the Company is at present exposed in Bengal, and what Consequences are to be thence apprehended in future, now that the Dutch Company, by the Alliance of the English with the Moors, and the open Acts of Hostility flowing thence against them, are incapacitated, and still

still to this Day restrained from protecting and securing their Servants and Possessions from such Acts of Violence.

LET it only be considered, that the English East India Company pays no Toll : That they, or at least their Servants, draw moreover for themselves a Share, as well of the Toll which other Nations pay, as of the other Incomes of the Country. That hereby the respective Governors, great Men, Natives of the Country; and other Servants, are in Part deprived of their usual Subsistence ; and hence it is easy to judge, that these People must contrive Ways to supply that Defect of Subsistence by some other Means. And therefore it is no Wonder, that the Moors, depending on the Assistance of their Allies, turn the Inability of the Dutch Company to their own Advantage, in order from Time to Time to squeeze considerable Sums of Money from them.

BUT while on the one Hand the Company is necessarily exposed to Extortions ; so on the other Hand they are every where obstructed in the carrying on their Trade ; nay totally so.

THE Salt-petre Trade continues still exclusively in the Hands of the English ; and it is almost quite impossible for the Company's Servants to procure any Cotton Cloths. The Weavers, under severe Threats, are forbid, and actually hindered from working any Cloths for the Dutch Company : And if, notwithstanding, some are inclined to work for the Dutch Company, yet the Factors of the English forcibly cut the Pieces out of the Loom ; and what Complaints soever the Company's Servants have made on that Head to the Governor and Council of the English Company, no Redress could ever be obtained.

BUT this extravagant Conduct of the Servants of the English East India Company is not confined to the Commerce in Bengal. The private English Traders and Smugglers have, for some Time past, laid it down as a Rule for their Conduct ; that they may lawfully sail to, and trade at all Places, where it has pleased God that Water should run. Founded on that pretended Right, several

Several of those private Traders have once and again ventured to supplant the Dutch Company even in their most appropriated Spice-Trade. The Honourable Government of India has not omitted to hinder as much as possible this unlawful Navigation and Trade: And this gave Occasion to the Commander of his Britannic Majesty's Squadron in the East Indies, without Scruple, to threaten in a Letter, that if the Honourable Government should hinder or obstruct any English Ships in their Navigation and Trade, he would in that Case with his Ships of War pay a Visit to Batavia, which would be of the most affecting Consequences to the Dutch Company.

WE hold ourselves, High and Mighty Lords, fully assured, that his Britannic Majesty will on no Account approve such Conduct of his Officers and other Subjects: Nay, we cannot imagine, that even the Directors themselves of the India Company at London, will justify the above-mentioned Conduct of their Servants in Bengal: And we are readier far to hope from the Justice of his said Majesty, that when he is informed of the Injuries done to the Dutch Company by his Subjects, his Majesty will on that Account cause due Satisfaction and Reparation to be made the Company.

BUT in the mean Time the Company's Settlements in Bengal are exposed to the utmost Danger: And as long as the Servants of the English East India Company shall assume to themselves, by virtue of the Treaty entered into, in the Year 1757, by the Governor and Council of Fort William with the then Nabob Mier Jaffer Cham, as Allies of the Moors, in a hostile Manner to fall upon the Dutch Company, and deprive them of the Means of defending themselves against the Violences of the Moors, the Amendment of the Company's Condition in Bengal will be far to seek.

THE cancelling that Treaty, so far as the English Servants maintain, That on this Account they have a Right, as Allies of the Moors, to act in a hostile Manner against the Dutch Company, is therefore, under respectful Correction, the first and capital Point, of which the Redress ought to be procured as soon as possible.
first

As in the above-mentioned Representation of the Directors, it has been undeniably proved, That the said Treaty of the Servants of the English East India Company with the Moors, directly clashes with the Treaties subsisting between your High Mightinesses and his Britannic Majesty; especially with that separate Article of the 8th of March 1675; and that, moreover, both the Servants of the English East India Company, and the Commanders of his Majesty's successive Squadrons in the East Indies, have, before the Date of that pretended Treaty, at sundry Times, and on several Occasions, maintained, That it was not lawful for the Dutch Company, consistently with the Treaties subsisting, to give any Aid or Assistance to the Nabob or Moors: So the Directors trust, that, should it please your High Mightinesses to write to your Ministers at the Court of England, in the strongest Manner, to insist with his Britannic Majesty on the cancelling the above-mentioned Treaty, and the farther Consequences thereof, his said Majesty would not scruple to make the Dutch Company enjoy the Effect of the Treaties entered into and concluded with your High Mightinesses, and at the same Time charge the Commanders of his Majesty's Squadrons, as also the Directors of the East India Company at London, exactly to behave according to the Tenor of the above-mentioned Treaties; with special Injunctions to the last mentioned, to expedite, without any Delay, the necessary and full Orders to the Indies; to the End, they may forbid, and actually hinder their Servants in Bengal, and elsewhere in the Indies, where it may be necessary, either as pretended Allies of the Nabob of Bengal, or under any other Colour or Pretext, to undertake any Act of Violence or Hostility against the Dutch Company, or to injure them in their Commerce.

THE other Articles of Complaint and Grievance, contained in the aforesaid Representation, being no less fully justified and proved, the Directors can expect no less from the Equiry of his Britannic Majesty, than that his Majesty, as to these also, will cause the proper Satisfaction and Reparation to be made the Dutch Company.

THE Success of this Expectation, how well-grounded soever it may be, yet entirely depends on the Support which your High Mightinesses shall please to grant the Company for that Purpose: And the Directors take the Liberty, moreover, in the most humble Manner, to request your High Mightinesses to recommend to your Ministers at the Court of England, to insist in the strongest Manner, on a proper Satisfaction for the Injuries sustained, as also on the actual Reparation of the Damage and Detriment undergone; and at the same Time to write to the said Ministers, above all to insist with his Britannic Majesty, that in the mean Time, the necessary Orders may, on the first proper Opportunity, be expedited to the Indies; in which, both the Commanders of his Majesty's Squadrons there, and the Servants of the English Company in Bengal, and elsewhere in the Indies, where it may be necessary, shall be expressly forbid, in virtue of the Treaty or Convention, entered into in the Year 1757, with the then Nabob of Bengal, as Allies of the Nabob, or under any other Pretext, directly or indirectly, to commit any Acts of Hostility or Violence against the Dutch Company, their Settlements or Dependents; and in which they, on the Contrary, shall be charged to behave in regard to the Company of this Country, according to the Tenor of the Treaties subsisting between his Britannic Majesty and your High Mightinesses; and moreover, to suffer the Commerce of the said Company to be carried on unmolested, and without giving them the least Impediment or Lett therein.

THE Heinousness of those Injuries, the Importance of the Damage and Detriment which the Company has thereby suffered, the essential Interest the Company has to obtain, on that Account, the desired Satisfaction, and a real Reparation, as soon as possible; but above all, the critical Circumstances, wherein the Company at present finds itself, and the highly urgent Necessity thence arising, for obtaining from your High Mightinesses your particular Protection for the same, and your effectual, but above all, speedy Aid and Support: All these Considerations, which are of the utmost Consequence, have, High and Mighty Lords, put the Directors under the indispensable Obligation, to prefer a second Time, their respectful Representations on this Head to your High Mightinesses, with this humble Request,

THAT your High Mightinesses will once more be pleased to take into your serious Consideration the present State of the East India Company of this Country ; which in Bengal is exposed to the Extortions and Vexations of the Moors ; whose Commerce is there greatly cramped and injured : which, above all that, is, in more than one Place in India, involved in Tumults and Seditions, the Issue of which cannot be foreseen, and which seem to be as it were in Motion, in order, by a Concourse of Misfortunes, to overwhelm the Company at once ; and which besides, at this Time, more than ever deserves the peculiar Attention of your High Mightinesses with the farther Request,

THAT your High Mightinesses, after weighing the State of the Company, may be pleased to take such Resolutions, on the repeated Application of the Directors, as your High Mightinesses shall in your high Wisdom judge to be serviceable and necessary.

MAY the Almighty God bless the Deliberations of your High Mightinesses on this and all other weighty Matters : And may he preserve your Persons and Families from all Harms. This is the hearty Wish and Prayer of those, who have the Honour to be, &c.

*Your High Mightinesses most humble and obedient Servants,
The Directors of the General Dutch East-India Company.*
