Maitland, to 15th and 2d Bat. Lieutenant-Colonel J. G. Graham, to 22d and 2d Bat. Lieutenant-Colonel T. Wilson, to 4th and 2d Bat. Lieutenant-Colonel J. Leitch, to 17th and 2d Bat. Lieutenant-Colonel R. Munro, to 3d Bat. 15th Native Regiment.

Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson, to 1st Bat. 14th N. I.

On Monday afternoon anchored in the roads, His Majesty's Ship Fox, Captain HART, accompanied by the French Ship, CARAVAN, her prize. This ship was formerly the CARTIER of Bengal, Captain AIKIN, and was taken in October 1807 by the French Privateer L'ADELE. The CARAVAN when captured, was bound from Batavia to Surabaya; her cargo consists of Stones for building Forts, Arrack, Coffee and several Carriages and Bandidies.

The ship Haze, Captain LEIGH, which sailed from this Port on the 24th March 1808, was wrecked on the 15th June last, on an unknown Reef, in Basses Straights off Port Dalrymple, Van Diemen's Island, the Commander and all the crew except one Lasar, were saved.

The following is the bearing of the Shoal, as detailed by Captain LEIGH to Lieutenant-Governor Patterson.

"The reef on which the Haze struck, and was the occasion of her loss (which I beg leave to name after her) bears from the Flag-staff on Point Clarence W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N. by Compass, about five miles distant, and may extend farther to sea; as I think the Haze went over the middle of it, it is very dangerous, never being dry, though at low water spring tides, the water is discoloured over it, which I have seen on the Flag-staff on Point Clarence, at the above bearing. The Haze was on it at the top of high water, drawing 13 feet, and had not less than 24 fathoms, the swell being rather high; it has no connection with the Western Reef, but bears from it about N. by W. true. I suppose two miles distant, the outer breakers on the Western Reef, bears from the Flag-staff W. per Compass: Mr. Flinders's bearing being the same.

Should these remarks be of any service to so good a harbour, it will give me much pleasure."

DEPARTURES.—Lieutenant-Colonel Fletcher, and George Strachey, Esq.

CALCUTTA, —May 3, 1809.

We are happy to understand, that the whole of the fleet of homeward bound Indianmen, with their convoy, sailed from Sagar Roads, on Monday last, the 1st of May, all well.

We have alluded to a secret article of the Treaty of Tilsit, which has been lately developed, and by which the Emperor Alexander engages to lend all his assistance to Bonaparte, to enable him to hasten the grand project of overturning all the independent Governments of Europe, excepting that of Russia; and when that is done, the two virtuous Emperors are honorably to divide the spoils between them. A line is to be drawn from the Vistula to the Isle of Corfu. All to the Eastward of that line, is to belong to Russia, and all to the Westward, is to belong to Bonaparte, with which division, he, like the just and unambitious man, that the last six years of his life, have evinced him to be, engages to be content and well satisfied. It was in virtue of that secret article, that Russia secured all the views of France against Spain, and Portugal; and the attempt to realize the project, began with the invasion of those Countries by France in the South, and at the same time with the invasion of Sweden by Russia, in the North. It is singular that Spain and Portugal having recovered their independence, and Sweden having nobly repelled every attack both open and secret, now constitute with Austria, the only barriers that can possibly save Russia, from that political annihilation to which her own efforts so rapidly tend.—Notwithstanding the respite that she has thus obtained, by the failure of the late schemes against Spain, Portugal, and Sweden, there seems no room to doubt that the Emperor Alexander, seduced by the same system of intrigue, has ratified at his late meeting with Bonaparte, at Erfurt, all the fatal stipulations contained in the treaty of Tilsit.

From the present advanced period of the season, there seems now little probability of any arrival from Europe, previous to that of the Warren Hastings at Madras. This ship is appointed for Madras, Bengal and China; a destination, that to accomplish, within the proper season, requires that she should leave England early in January; so that it is not likely that the date of her arrival at Madras, will prove later than the middle of this month; and on that ground, we have little doubt, that the public anxiety for the receipt of European news, will be fully gratified in the course of fifteen or twenty days.

Adverting to the political state of Europe, at the date of our latest advices, some probable conjecture may be formed of the outline of public news, that we are to receive by the daily expected accounts; and we may, perhaps, without incurring the imputation of rashness, hazard the following general speculation.

Spain and Portugal existing in their now confirmed independence, and enjoying all the blessings of domestic peace. Marshalls Ney & Bessieres, with such part of their army as escaped the sword, Prisoners of War in Spain.

Bonaparte at Paris. Having abandoned ad interim, any further attempt against Spain, & finding his insidious proposals for peace, rejected by England, he is making every preparation for War against Austria, the entire reduction of that power being an indispensable preliminary to the fulfilment of the secret article of the peace of Tilsit, which stipulates that the European Continent shall be divided into two great Empires, the Eastern and the Western, the possession of the former being promised to Alexander and his successors, a promise in which the silly, infatuated Emperor affects to confide, and who accordingly, is zealously employed in assisting Napoleon, in the accomplishment of that great work.

Peace concluded between Russia and the Turks, with the secret sanction of Bonaparte, the better to carry out the grand project against Austria.

The people of France universally disaffected and discontented, smarting under the privations arising from the Continental blockade, an annihilated commerce, their domestic repose disturbed by a severe police, and domiciliary visits, and subject to an odious Military conscription; but the system of terror within, and the hostile agitation without, still subdue the general feeling of indignation.

Their Serene Majesties of Prussia, Bavaria, Württemberg, &c. in a grand dilemma;—a discontented, turbulent people on the one hand, and a most suspicious, disappointed Chief of their Confederacy, on the other.

Sweden having followed the example of Great Britain, is the only other Country in Europe, that has preserved her independence unimpaired, and has successfully opposed the tyranny of Bonaparte and his vassals. The invasion of Sweden finally closed in the defeat and disgrace of the Russian Arms.

Denmark heartily tired of French friendship, but unable to extricate herself from the deadly embrace of her Ally.

Calabria, Naples, Tuscany, Genoa, and the other Italian States, impatiently awaiting the arrival of a powerful British and Spanish Army, to co-operate with them in their intended effort to shake off the French yoke, and to join with Austria against the common Tyrant of Europe.

Great Britain blessed with internal peace and abundance, continues to succour with her counsels, with men, treasure, arms, and stores, the rising efforts, of the Continent, to emancipate itself from the dominion of France.

Commercial intercourse between England, Spain, and Portugal opened, and daily increasing.

Marriages, Births, Deaths, Elopements, Robberies, Murders, and other domestic Casualties in the usual proportion. [Mrs.]

May 6, 1809.
The Kedgeree report received yesterday at noon mentions, that on the preceding day a vessel passed that place inward bound:—she is called the Arrallah Feis, under charge of a Nacoda, from the Negrais; which it appears she left on the 5th March, chiefly salt laden.

On Wednesday arrived off Calcutta, the ship Sir Edward Pellew, Captain John Stevens, from China the 8th March, and Prince of Wales's Island, the 10th ultimo.

The Pellew sailed from Penang in company with H. M. ship Blanche, and the country ship Ganges; and parted from them off Achen, as they were destined to touch at Madras, previous to their coming to this port.

The Kau-roo grab had arrived at Penang from China, prior to the departure of the Pellew from the former place; and was to sail for Bengal about the 12th ultimo.—The Najee grab remained at China, on the 11th March. The mention in our last Star, of these two vessels having sailed from China, with the Europe Fleet, was premature.

The following Passengers arrived at Penang, on the Rhuissroo, from China.—Mrs. Miller and Child, Lieutenant Monteath, Capt. Laurel, and two other Gentlemen.

We hear that the Khuissroo had a smart action with a number of Ladrone, in the China Seas; and took one of their Junks.

The Pellew brought a great number of letters from Penang to this presidency; among which, we understand, was one forwarded by the Khuissroo from Macao, stating the arrival at the last mentioned place, in the early part of March, of a brig called the Elizabeth, three months from Port Jackson; having on board Captain Leigh, and the crew late belonging to the Hebe, which vessel in March 1808, sailed from Madras for new South Wales; and on the 15th of June last, was unfortunately wrecked in Basses Straits; Port Dalrymple, and the Pilot being within view at the time; the crew were all saved; with the exception of one man.

By the same opportunity, we learn, that Mr. W. Scott, of Penang, who sailed from thence on the ship Wellesley, for the Feejee Islands, had arrived at Port Jackson in good health.—Capt. Dalrymple, and his chief officer, we are concerned to add, had died on the passage.

H. M. ship Samarang, with the other mentioned valuable vessels under convoy from Bengal, reached Penang in safety, on the 7th ultimo, viz. Baring, Odny, Ceres, Martia, and Portuguese ship Odior Pereira.

The Britannia and Margaret, which also sailed from hence with the foregoing convoy, on the 17th March, had not arrived, but were met by the Pellew, shortly after the latter quitted Penang.

On the 6th ultimo, the Phillip Dundas, Captain Noäyll, arrived at Penang, from China, and the Eastward.

Passengers: Miss Bergman, and Mr. Bergman. The ship Mercury, was to sail from Penang about the beginning of the present month, for China, touching at Malacca.

On Saturday last, came to her moorings off Calcutta, the ship Venus, Captain J. Arnott, from Bombay, which she left on the 24th of March;—touched at Point de Galle, on the 4th, and Esquilly, on the 23d ult.

Passengers: Captain Latif; late commander of the ship Byramgore;—and Messieurs Cral and Bruce.

The Spanish brig Marina, recently arrived at Calcutta as a Cartel from Manila, having been sold here; her commander, Capt. F. Dwyer has purchased the ship, formerly the Olive of this Port, (subsequently under Danish colours by the name of the Norske Bønde, captured in the river, condemned; and sold as a Droit of Admiralty), and transferred to her the name of the Marina;—she will sail from Calcutta for Manila, in the course of the ensuing week, with a cargo of Piece Goods, &c.

We understand, Mons. Rully, who came on the Cartel, as Commissary for the exchange of Prisoners, returns to Manila on the Mariana.

The country ships William, Agree, and James Drummond, have left Calcutta, during the preceding week, on their return to Bombay.

duct of those under their command: It was at the same time proved salutary as a warning to the incorrigible traitors, who had happened to be on the 27th of October, before a court martial, of which Rear-Admiral Sir Isaac Coffin was president, was held at Portsmouth, for the trial of the Surgeon of His Majesty's ship Jamaica, for disorderly behaviour by provoking and insulting speeches and gestures, to the officers, &c. in breach of the articles of war. Among the witnesses called for the defendant, was, the purser of the ship; but his evidence was objected to, on the ground, that he was a layman, and not a Christian. Jesus Christ, to testify the character of the Virgin Mary, to ridicule the Bible, and say it ought to be burnt by the common hangman; with other grossly atheistical expressions, which decorum forbids us to repeat: it will not be wondered at, that the same person should—the king, called him an infidel, &c.—The court resolved, that after proof adduced of the infidelity and disloyalty of the purser, his evidence could not be received; and his president required him to excuse his behaviour to the Lord Commissioners of the Admiralty. The president, accordingly, wrote to their Lordships; and the purser was dismissed his Majesty's service, with disgrace.

EPITAPH.

On a Monument lately erected in HOLBORN DOWNS CHURCH, in CEMETERY.
Here lie the Bodies
Of THOMAS BOND and MARY his Wife.
She was Temperate, Chaste and Charitable;
BUT
She was Proud, Peevish, and Passionate.
She was an affectionate Wife and a tender Mother;

BUT
Her Husband and Child whom she loved,
Seldom saw her Countenance without a disgusting frown, whilst she received Visitor's whom she despised with an endearing smile.
Her behaviour was discreet towards strangers;

BUT
Imprudent in her Family.
Abroad her conduct was influenced by good breeding;

BUT
At home, by ill temper.
She was a protested enemy to Flattery,
And was seldom known to praise or Commend;

BUT
The talents in which she principally excelled,
Were difference of Opinion, and discovering Flaws and Imperfections.
She was an admirable Economist,
And without Prodigality,

Dispensed Plenty to every Person in her Family;
BUT
Would sacrifice her eyes to a Parting Candle.
She sometimes made her bed happy, with her good Qualities;

BUT
Much more frequently miserable—with her many failings.
Insomuch that in thirty years cohabitation,
He often Lamented

That nature all her Virtues,
He had not, in the whole, enjoyed two years of Matrimonial Comfort.

AT LENGTH,
Finding that she had lost the affections of her Husband, as well as the regard of her Neighbours,
Family disputes having been divulged by Servants,
She died of Vexation, July 20, 1768,
Aged 48 years.

Her worn out Husband survived her four months and two days,
And departed this life, Nov. 23, 1768.
In the 54th year of his age.

WILLIAM BOND, Brother to the Deceased, erected
As a Weekly Monument to the surviving Wives of this Parish, that they may avoid the Infamy
Of having their Memories handed down to Posterity
With a patch-work Character.

The Spaniards appear to have studied to some purpose the character and conduct of Bonaparte and are imitating, with advantage, his arts, his wiles, and stratagems. The following letter is circulated among the provinces:—

"My Dear Brother,—I desire you will vigilantly attend to your proceedings with the Spaniards, not indeed for their sakes, but that they may be rendered subservient—to my projects. When once the authority of France is established among them, I expected to draw from their population 20,000 men, with whose assistance I intend to conquer the kingdom of Morocco, and the whole Mediterranean Coast of Africa. This conquest, besides preventing the English from drawing subsistence from thence, will put Spain in a helpless situation. For such purposes it is advisable to give the preference to the southern inhabitants, who are more accustomed to the inclemency of the heat, and best calculated to cope with the English. It is necessary to avail ourselves of the present circumstances to advance our fortunes, while the booby Alexander, who I have made to believe is to divide Europe with me, is amusing himself in conquering rocky lands and icy seas. (We shall see what will happen.)
"You and Berthier are the only persons to whom I have disclosed this favorite scheme, &c.
"NAPOLEON."

Honeyman, George M'GLE, Jacob HARRISON, M. J. Jennings, William BOWDEN, James GRIFFIN, R. C. LAWSON, J. G. PEAKE, John WITTE, Hugh ROSE, Robert PHILLIPS, David CAMPBELL, R. PERRY, T. ASHLEY, A.
